

We work with executives and teams to grow their leadership impact.
We help them go from good to great, or from great to brilliant.
The outcome: alignment, engagement, results.

The LAITHOS Way™ combines coaching, consulting and experiential learning tailored to your unique needs.

As a result of our work together, you can:

- improve your bottom line through shared commitment
- create clarity and get critical initiatives back on track
- accelerate results through proven leadership solutions
- break through silos and embrace collaboration
- encourage calculated risks
- create cultures where people know their work matters
- take your leadership impact to the next level

“You Really Get Us!”

Four words we love and hear consistently because of our real-world experience as leaders.

“The insights and personal experience helped launch my executive team on their journey to transform our business. Starting with who we are as leaders has been key to building our playbook and setting the right leadership tone throughout the organization.”

A LAITHOS LEGACY

At LAITHOS, “impact” isn’t just a buzzword. We support future leaders and the community through pro-bono work and volunteering.

Our impact is your impact - we’re always seeking recommendations.

LAITHOS is certified as a Woman-Owned Small Business eligible for work with the US Government.

Let’s have a conversation about creating the leadership impact you want.

The LAITHOS Team: Co-Founders & Leadership Catalysts

We combine our diverse business, coaching and consulting experience to bring value to our clients like no other team can.

Mary Ellen Claggett

"Leadership is a learned life skill."

Mary Ellen's diverse operational, technical, foreign affairs and policy experience across federal agencies called on all facets of leadership. Lessons learned were forged through fire and culminated in the highest-level career medaled award – Secretary of Defense's Exceptional Civilian Service medal.

Having learned the power of a fully engaged and aligned team to do the impossible, Mary Ellen is committed to bringing that power to you and your teams. Throw in processes which encourage creativity and innovation and there is no stopping what you can achieve.

Imagine a place where every employee is a leader who takes responsibility for the world around them.

Picture an environment where leaders are genuine and supportive, teams collaborate, and things get done.

Jennifer McEwen

"Bringing the human back into being."

Jennifer is a proven change leader with a track record of helping transform businesses.

She has held executive-level positions in Forbes 25 and Fortune 100 companies and has deep experience in multiple industries. Jennifer believes that authenticity is the key to leadership success. She aligns organizational culture and strategy to create success. She is invested in delivering first-class customer experiences.

Tracey Thorsen

"It's all about how you lead."

Tracey's passion is in collaborating with C-Suite and senior executives in order to positively impact the entire company.

As a former Fortune 10 award-winning executive, she knows first-hand that a team's willingness to "take the hill" is directly attributed to how their leader leads and how the team shows up. Using her experience in multiple first-of-a-kind and one-of-a-kind leadership opportunities, Tracey focuses on coaching and consulting with teams and senior executives to bring their "best" to the table.

Envision transformed organizations filled with people who know they matter, their work is valued, and they are deeply connected to the bigger vision.
